As the dinner party continues, you notice Figs slapping both hands to his face, over his false beard. You can see from your position that the beard has started to detach itself from Figs's face, no doubt aided by the steam from the tomato soup.
Figs holds onto his beard in a blind panic, then yelps as the whole thing begins to dangle off his face at an oblique angle. Nobody has noticed yet.
I create a loud and raucous diversion by announcing that I will now provide some entertainment for all by juggling and singing.
I reattach Figs's beard under the pretense of admiring his thick facial hair.
I distract everyone by starting an argument with Col. Firesnuff while Figs fixes it.
